

Challenged Materials

Objections may be raised to instructional materials used in the system's educational program. Any challenge of instructional materials shall be directed in writing, using the approved form, to the individual school media committee members who shall make a decision of whether or not the materials shall be used. The decision may be appealed to the system media committee, the superintendent, and the Camden County Board of Education until all appeals are exhausted. Any instructional material is open to challenge by anyone who is a citizen of Camden County. Any challenge of materials shall be documented on the Request for Reconsideration of Educational Media form and on the appropriate appeals form.
